School an open target

Burglaries, vandalism plague Hancock school

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
The Hancock North Central school complex, located near the White Cypress Community, is apparently a favorite target for burglars and vandals.

Items inside the school building itself are easy prey because the building cannot be locked.

In the last five months more than $2,000 in equipment has been stolen from the Hancock County School District campus.

During a public forum Saturday morning at the school, HNC High School Principal Donald Hillman revealed he instructs janitors to remove paper products from the restrooms before weekends because 'the halls are rolled' with toilet paper from the facilities by vandals.

"We've had a problem locking our building," he added.

County School Board President Woodrow Ladner also revealed at a Saturday meeting in Bay St. Louis that 14 batteries valued at $1,200 were stolen from school busses parked at HNC during the summer.

Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Alvin Ladner could not locate any report of the battery thefts Wednesday morning.

Investigator Delbert Seay added, "A lot of the thefts at HNC haven't been reported."

However, the sheriff's department does have reports of a 'small amount of change' being stolen from HNC May 19; June 28 theft of an air compressor valued at $514; and a Sept. 18 theft of a grease gun valued at $300.

Woodrow Ladner said the air compressor was stolen from the school's drafting room.

The board authorized bid advertisement for a new unit.

Board Member Oris Ladner stated, "I think we ought to advertise for a good compressor and anchor it in the building's slab."

The board president also reported, "Someone broke into our maintenance shop at HNC and stole a grease gun. They tried to steal a jack, but didn't because they couldn't lift it."

Woodrow Ladner said it would be more economical to hire a watchman for the school, but the board took no action on the recommendation.

In other business at the 9 a.m. meeting at the Dan M. Russell Sr. Memorial Youth Court Center in Bay St. Louis, the board:

—Accepted a recommendation by Superintendent of Education Billy D. Sills and Hillman to employ Peral D. Mitchell as ninth-grade mathematics teacher at HNC.

—Accepted the resignation of Bus Driver Bettye Page.

—Accepted a recommendation by Sills to employ Judith Nelson as bus driver.

Wastewater hearing scheduled at library

By ELLIS CUEVAS

There will be a public hearing at the City-County Public Library, US-90, Bay St. Louis today at 10 a.m. on the proposed tri-county waste water system.

Bill Hilliker, Bay St. Louis representative on the commission, appeared before the Council Monday night and received approval of a contract in the amount of $10,000 which will not cost the city anything if everything is going on formation of the tri-county pact.

Hilliker said, "I urge all citizens to come to the meeting. We will have the people there to answer questions. It will all be about the Environmental Protection Agency's (EPA) 1983 standards."

Council President Benvenuti objected to the hearing being at 10 a.m. because of the Council being part-timers on the job.

Benvenuti said, "There was another hearing about a year ago in the morning. The other communities' are in the evenings."

Mayor Larry Bennett stated, "I am in agreement with the Council, the meetings should be in the evenings."

Hilliker said he would try and change the time and would try and make sure the next ones will be in the evenings. In a discussion it was noted that the $10,000 was to be used only if the tri-county organization was not formed in January.

Board pursues trailer elimination

Bay trustees recommend sixth, ninth grade move

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District Board of Trustees unanimously voted Monday night to formulate a plan by November 10 to relocate sixth and ninth grade classes to eliminate portable classrooms at North Bay Elementary.

The board proposed sixth grade at North Bay be moved to Bay Junior High School and Junior High's ninth grade be transferred to Bay Senior High School.

A North Bay renovation was also to be planned, but no board action was taken after a heated discussion.

Some 30 patrons, teachers and administrators attended the meeting in the board room at the senior high school in Bay St. Louis.

Superintendent of Education J.D.

McCullough reported he investigated seven possible buildings which could house students in the North Bay trailers, but found only two viable locations—the County Fairgrounds building and the Waveland Civic Center.

However, McCullough cited several problems in placing children in either of the two buildings.

"I still feel we can find a place, but I don't know if the school board has found a place. I hope you (the board) have been busy finding a place," the superintendent stated in a skeptical tone.

"I've discussed this matter with the administration and we're concerned about any move at this time," McCullough said.

Trustee Walter Turcott asked McCullough for enrollment figures at all of the district's schools and noted angrily, "You mentioned a lot of things you checked into, but all you said was the administration said they were against the program."

The superintendent explained several reasons why a move was not advisable, but added, "...you (the board) are the boss of the school."

Trustee James Ginn asked to hear opinions from teachers working in the portable classrooms, but Trustee Maurice Singleton said, "I thought it was our opinion that this is an emergency."

Third grade teacher Mary K. Dean reported, "I'm in a trailer and I con-

Sixth Annual Gumbo Festival underway Friday in Nacaise

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The Sixth Annual Gumbo Festival at Nacaise Crossing in Hancock County will be the largest ever according to L.J. Breaux, chairman.

The festival will be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday on Infant of Prague Catholic Church grounds, Hwy. 603 North, Hancock County.

"Thousands of visitors from neighboring states as well as local people are expected to eat our world famous gumbo and hear some top flight entertainment," Breaux said.

Among the big name western acts on the schedule are T.G. Sheppard, Stella Parton, Peggy Foreman, Karen Wheeler, Vince Brisco and the Acadians, (from down Louisiana way); and The Thrasher Brothers.

Gumbo will be served as the gates open at 5 p.m. Friday and the festivities will close at 10:30 p.m. that night with a fireworks extravaganza.

Breaux stated, "We have many events over the weekend, something every age group can enjoy. The Gumbo Festival is something for the entire family to enjoy."

The gumbo is cooked in a cast iron pot weighing 1,000 pounds which is more than 150 years old.

The pot is mounted on a portable trailer over six butane burners and has a capacity of 500 gallons, according to Breaux.

Preparation of the gumbo ingredients takes a week, then plus six hours of slow heat, a lot of stirring, tasting and combining and adding herbs and spices.

Admission to the festival can be purchased in advance at $15 with children under 12 free. Daily rates are also available.

History of the Gumbo Festival
The Gumbo Festival is six years old this year. It was born when Fr. Pierre consulted L.J. Breaux, a Cajun transplant from Franklin, La.

Fr. Pierre was thinking Octoberfest and Mr. Breaux was thinking naturally of 'gumbo'.

So the two thoughts merged into Gumbo Festival.

Fr. Pierre and Mr. Breaux were looking for something for Hancock County and all Mississippians.

ON WAY TO HOSPITAL—Rodney Thompson is placed in Mobile Medic ambulance heading for Hancock General Hospital early Sunday morning by medics and Bay Fireman Gerald Price III. The fire department was called by the police department to use the 'Jaws of Life' to free Thompson after a collision involving his vehicle and trees, police say. Bay Chief Douglas Williams, Officers Albert Biehl, Wilbert Dorsey and firemen Price, Alphonse Sheppard and Donald Manieri were among those responding to the call. Hancock General Nursing Supervisor Cathy Savage reported late Wednesday, Thompson was treated for multiple lacerations and admitted, and later released Tuesday. The accident occurred at 3:20 a.m. at 800 Dunbar Avenue. (Staff photo-Ellis Cuevas)

Controversy unresolved on elementary athletics

By ELLIS CUEVAS

An informal meeting was held at the Bay Senior High Library Tuesday night to discuss the elimination of varsity type sporting events in the fifth and sixth grade schools of the Bay St. Louis Municipal School system.

School Board President Mrs. Joseph Gex opened the meeting stating "This is an informal discussion to let you all have an opportunity to talk and the school board is here to listen to your ideas."

School board member James Ginn who asked for the meeting stated, "It was brought up by the committee for better education to have our elementary schools accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools."

During the discussions it was mentioned by several speakers that the children were being used in this matter, and that the meeting really should have been to see if the school system wanted to become members of the Southern Association or not.

Robert Delcuze, a parent, questioned if elementary schools have competitive sports was the reason why the system could not become accredited by the association.

It was stated that there were several other reasons and that the athletic programs were not the only hindrances.

Thomas Raphael, teacher in St. Tammany Parish, and a parent of children in the Bay school system, explained the difference between state accreditation and the Southern Association accreditation.

Raphael stated, "It really is the work of teachers, which takes about 18 months before being considered by the Southern Association. No administration or school board people are involved."

Raphael also mentioned the bone structure stress and strain caused by the competitive sports by the youngsters.

Superintendent J.D. McCullough mentioned that the Senior High and Junior High both are accredited by the Southern Association and the Elementary Schools by the state with trainings. School board member Walter Turcott addressed the group by saying, "I hesitate to speak as a member of the board." He spoke as a parent mentioning the education of his children in the school system and how some were in sports and his last son in the band. Turcott added, "Let us keep our kids out of this. If parents do not want them to participate in sports, they do not have to participate. Do not use our kids."

NEW ROOF LEAKING—Dorothy O'Farrell, custodian at Gulfview Elementary School in Lakeshore, mops up water in a school building hallway during rains earlier this week. School personnel and parents are complaining a new roof on the school, replaced under emergency contracts after a late spring tornado this year, is leaking, also in an office and cafeteria. Costs and contracts to repair the tornado damage are the subject of a current investigation underway by the Hancock County Sheriff's Department, Mississippi Highway Patrol and the State Auditor's Department. PERRY WALDVOGEL SR.

Perry S. Waldvogel Sr., 62, safety education consultant for the State Department of Education, has died unexpectedly of a heart attack. He was employed in the SDE's Division of Instruction for 8 years. Waldvogel worked with school districts across the state conducting training, seminars and workshops in the area of school safety.

A native of New York state, he moved to the Ellisville area about 1934, completing high school there and attending Jones Junior College. He was an outstanding football player and boxer at Jones and at the University of Southern Mississippi, where he received his B.S. and Master's degrees.

Following service in the Army during World War II, Waldvogel began a career as a teacher and coach at Hinds Junior College. He held similar positions at Thames Junior High School in Hattiesburg and later was principal at Hattiesburg Academy. For 13 years, he also operated his own business, Perry's Tractor Co., in Hattiesburg.

Active in all sports, Waldvogel was coach of the Hattiesburg Golden Gloves boxing team for more than 25 years and was Hub Fins swimming coach for several years. Earlier this year, he earned a President's Award for Physical Fitness for his swimming.

Immediately prior to joining the SDE, he worked for the Governor's Highway Safety Program.

Survivors are his widow Floy Waldvogel, two sons P. Scott Waldvogel Jr., of New Orleans and Mackey D. Waldvogel of Hattiesburg; two daughters, Mrs. Jeannie W. Patterson of Clinton, Ill. and Mrs. Susan W. Staunton of Dallas; five grandsons and one granddaughter.

Library patrons depend on information

"What is the lifespan of an aardvark? How can I get the birth certificate of my grandfather who died in New York in 1907?" "I'm going to purchase a new car. Do you have information on the latest models?" "I need information about universities in Oregon. Can you help me?"

These are just a few of the many questions asked in person and by telephone at the libraries in Hancock County.

In fact, over the past six months, the headquarters library has answered over 2,000 informational questions.

The answers to many require only five or ten minutes of searching. However, the search for most of the answers can take an hour or more—especially those of an historical or research nature.

According to Library Director Prima Wunack, reference service consumes the most hours of staff time each day.

Yet it is not readily evident to most people. A staff member may work with an individual for over an hour in order to find all the information the patron needs.

In the meantime, five more people have called or come in to the library with information requests. "The hardest part," says Ma. Wunack, "is finding out exactly what information the patron needs."

A person may come in and ask what materials we have on medicine. However, after interviewing him we find he really wants an explanation of the human circulatory system.

Most of the questions are answered from the library's reference collection consisting of specialized books on particular subjects, each costing up to $200 per volume.

However, the entire library collection is used as a resource as well as agencies and experts outside the library.

In all, the reference services provided by the Hancock County Library System is costly in terms of staff time and money spent on keeping the reference collection up-to-date.

But it is the most vital part of the library's services.

According to Sherry Sch-wabacher who now handles most of the reference questions, "This work can be the most frustrating and at the same time the most exciting work in a library because we are not only answering factual questions but giving people up-to-date information that they would not be able to obtain from any place other than the library."

Money Talk

MONEY TALK

Knowing how your auto insurance premium is rated can be one step in finding ways to cut auto insurance costs.

"People who automatically renew their policy year after year may be missing chances of reducing their premium," says the Insurance Information Institute.

As circumstances change, people should reevaluate their auto insurance needs.

A major factor in determining your auto insurance premium is the territory in which you live. Rates are based on claim frequency and average loss.

Certain areas, such as larger cities, generate a greater rate of claims and higher loss costs than others.

A second factor used in figuring your premium is the type of car that you drive. A Mercedes, for example, costs more to insure than a family sedan.

Third, the use to which you put your car and the distance you drive affects your premium. If you use your car solely for pleasure, your rate is lower than someone who drives to work every day.

People who use their car in their business pay more than those who only use their car to drive to work; and people who drive longer distances to work pay more than people who drive only a short distance.

Fourth, most companies consider your age, sex, and marital status. Unmarried men under the age of 25, for example, pay more than either unmarried women or married men under the age of 25. Some companies reduce the premium for people over the age of 65.

Finally, your driving record itself affects your premium. Drivers who have recently caused accidents or who recently have been convicted of traffic violations will pay more for their auto insurance than those who haven't.

Many of the ways that you can reduce your auto insurance costs are tied directly to these rating factors. For example, if you reduce the amount of driving you do, such as by car pooling or by taking the bus to work, you could save between 10 and 30 percent on your premium, depending on where you live and other qualifications.

Other ways to save include the following:

1. If you have two cars, insuring them with the same company can save you up to 25 percent of the premium for each car, depending on the drivers.

2. Drivers at least 16 years old who are full-time students can get a discount of up to 25 percent by maintaining good grades in school. Usually, a student must keep a "B" average or be named on the dean's list or a similar honor roll to qualify for the discount.

3. Drivers between the ages of 16 and 20 who receive driver training can get a discount of up to 10 percent on their premium.

4. Increasing your deductible—that amount of a loss that you would pay—will also reduce your auto insurance costs. Raising the comprehensive deductible from $50 to $100 could save up to 20 percent on that coverage, and increasing the collision deductible from $100 to $250 could save up to 40 percent.

5. If your car has decreased significantly in value, it may be feasible for you to drop your collision and comprehensive coverage entirely, while keeping your liability coverage.

FIXING UP MAKES DOLLAR SENSE

Fixing up your home for sale makes a lot of sense. It should include painting walls and decks that don't clean up well, repairing broken cabinets and doors if needed.

Fences should be repaired and painted if needed. Have the driveway resurfaced if it is asphalt or has pot holes or large cracks. If resurfacing is not needed, have the driveway sealed. Make sure all light fixtures are working and it might help to increase the wattage of the light bulbs. Plant new flowers that are currently blooming and plant some grass seed on the lawn if needed. Spread new gravel around, if necessary.

Again, I think you can probably think of many things not mentioned here. I know it is difficult to do all of these things when you know you will be moving soon, but with a little money and labor you can add many times the cost to the value of your home.

Not only this, but the home will sell more rapidly. Many people will not want to purchase a home and immediately have to start working on it or have to lay out extra money for needed upkeep.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone or drop in at PRESSMAN REALTY, 1332 Hwy. 90 W., Waveland. Phone 467-2224. We're here to help!

EDITORIAL

It is gumbo time in Hancock!

This weekend will mark the sixth annual gumbo festival at Necaise Crossing.

We can remember only six short years ago when many folks of our County thought L.J. Breaux and Father Pierre were a bunch of nuts with a big dream and only a dream when they expressed their opinions about starting the festival.

Well, facts have proven the dream of the two as something which could be done and has been done five times already with the sixth starting tomorrow night.

There will be entertainment from such top Western stars such as T.G. Sheppard, Stella Parton (who as we all know, is the sister of a very famous star), Peggy Foreman, Karen Wheeler and such famous groups as Vince Bruce and Acadians and the Thrasher Brothers.

The Gumbo Festival has received world-wide recognition. This past Spring, like last year, several members of the local group visited our delegation in Washington and put on a festival for senators and representatives from throughout the United States.

In case some of you not too familiar with the location of Necaise Crossing or White Cypress, it is very easy to get to from the Bay-Waveland area. You take Highway 603 North and keep going, you won't miss it. There will be a large sign telling you where to turn left.

This affair isn't something someone thought of last week, month or even year, much planning has gone into the festival.

Many long hours of planning, hard work, and much more hard work to come for the hundreds of workers still remains to be done in order to make this the best Gumbo Festival ever.

The organizers have planned everything as close to perfection as possible including parking, first aid stations, relief stations, and so many details many of us would forget.

In addition to the gumbo, which is cooked 500 gallons at a time, there will be different types of booths and crafts.

Some of you may want to try to impress the judges with how good a farmer you were when you were young in the milking contest or show your talent in the fiddling contest.

If you wonder whether there are good cooks in the area, well some of the Louisiana Cajuns cannot understand why one person from the Necaise Crossing group won a gumbo cooking contest over there in an area which was supposed to be the gumbo capital.

Of course we all must remember that L.J. Breaux a festival founder, isn't a native Hancock Countian, a little over 20 years ago he realized he wasn't living in God's Country so he left Franklin, La. for Necaise Crossing.

If you think you are a good cook, candy maker, baker of goodies, or even quilt maker, you can enter your work and possibly be judged the best in the area.

There are a lot of folks who think they are big eaters, well there will be a gumbo eating contest for them to prove their ability.

No festival is complete without a queen, and the Necaise Crossing group will pick a queen and also beauty contest for the youngsters.

If you haven't been to the Necaise Crossing Gumbo Festival before, we are sure there will be something there for you. We feel those of you have been there before will not have to be reminded of the good times it offers and will be there without coaxing.

Remember Friday, Saturday and Sunday, the big Necaise Crossing Gumbo Festival, hope you have a good time!

FINAL TOUCHES—Bay St. Louis city workers clean sidewalks in the 400 block of Main Street following resurfacing of the artery last week. Readers have expressed appreciation to "those responsible" for the project. They include Mayor Larry Bennett; the Bay St. Louis City Council; Hancock County Board of Supervisors who contributed to financing the job; Broadway and Seal Engineers; Necaise Construction, contractor who completed the work in record time; and last but not least, the citizens of Bay St. Louis and Hancock County who paid the bills with their tax dollars.

NEWS FROM THE GOVERNOR'S OFFICE

I intend to vigorously pursue a sound and steady course of economic development for Mississippi.

Professional leadership, an intelligent economic strategy, and a realistically focused development agenda will enable the state to make significant economic strides attainable.

In the past economic development in Mississippi has been pursued somewhat spasmodically and often in the unwholesome environment of political interference. With the emergence of the new, highly professional Board of Economic Development in February, we now have the potential for a new day of economic development.

Since I took office in January, my administration has embarked on an aggressive and multi-pronged effort to expand the Mississippi economy.

These efforts have contributed to a number of tangible and lasting accomplishments, including Chevron's billion dollar expansion of its Pascagoula oil refinery and locating a Levi Strauss distribution facility in Canton.

As part of my personal commitment to develop Mississippi's economy, I traveled last week to New York where I met with representatives of five major corporations on an industrial recruiting mission.

I am hopeful that our visit will be able to secure the investment capital this state must have to stimulate our economy and provide higher paying jobs for our people.

All of the services this state provides to our citizens are dependent upon having additional capital invested in this state.

I also contacted industrial prospects in California, Texas, Illinois, Delaware, and several other states.

And while the state has taken a significant step forward in attracting nationally-known industries, I do not intend for us to rest on the laurels of past accomplishments.

Common sense dictates that we not only seek new capital investment and new markets, but that we work to expand existing industries and existing markets. I am taking an active role in assisting industries and businesses already operating in Mississippi. We can reap substantial economic benefits by encouraging the expansion of existing industries.

"I intend to embark on a concentrated effort to promote rural and agricultural development. In particular, I think we can develop the agricultural processing industry in Mississippi.

We have been successful in aiding the sluggish housing construction industry by providing lower interest rates for home mortgages, and we are proud of our efforts to promote development of the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway, which will be a tremendous stimulus to economic development in northeast Mississippi.

The massive, high-technology industrial expansion we envision for Mississippi will not occur overnight.

Economic development requires aggressive, focused, and professional effort over a long period of time. My commitment is to exert the type leadership to bring more jobs and a higher quality of employment opportunities to our people.

Bits 'n pieces

A Bay St. Louis motorist made a comment to us the other day about how he liked the new resurface job on Main Street.

The one thing which he said he is unable to understand about Main Street is why does it have so many stops, as most main thoroughfares have the right-of-way.

There are five blocks from Beach Boulevard to US-90 on Main Street ignoring the traffic signals at each end, with three four-way stops and one other signal light.

We realize the officials probably have had cause to install so many stops, but wonder if a recent survey of traffic has been taken.

The folks living in the vicinity of the Bay St. Louis oxidation pond are still having the bug problems at dusk, as a visit Sunday proved.

In talking to the people living in the area, they report the only thing they have seen was a mosquito control truck make a couple passes a while back.

We are unable to understand why some governmental agency has not looked into the problem faced by these citizens. If they have checked the bug problem out, they sure haven't done anything to control them.

We feel sorry for those who live in the area who are unable to walk in their yards in the evenings without having the pesky bugs getting into their eyes and mouths.

Like one resident told us, "We need help, and no one wants to listen."

The General Election in November is fast approaching. The time for persons to register in order to participate, if they have not done so is coming to a fast close.

A person must register by 5 p.m. Friday in order to be able to vote in the November 3 general election.

If you are not a registered voter, we hope that you visit the Circuit Clerk's office at the Courthouse and do so today.

While on the election subject, we see the local Republican Party has set up a headquarters on US-90 in Waveland, but we have not heard any word about such a facility for local Democrats.

We guess something will be forthcoming from the Democrats

Senior citizen protests amenities lack in shopping areas

Editor,
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir:

Apparently most shopping centers and super markets are operated either by persons under 35 years of age, or by some very calloused older persons who insist on ignoring two major needs of senior citizens when they are spending their money - 1) the need for a place to rest - sit down - comfortably at frequent intervals, and 2) the frequent need for public rest rooms.

It seems insane to us to advertise senior citizen discounts and other gimmicks to get the dollars of the geriatrics set, and then ignore the two major needs of these people.

The oldest and best known retirement community is famous for its green benches where senior citizens can rest while they shop and pursue their daily activities.

Locally, it is almost impossible to find a food chain which provides a place for tired husbands to sit while their wives spend the family food budget or vice versa.

This same blindness to need seems to exist on the part of department stores, drug chains, variety chains, etc.

It seems to us that some of the really wide-awake merchants might plan action to meet the needs of their Senior citizen customers.

Elderly Bay couple's need for assistance continues

Editor,
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Dear Sir,

For several weeks the Sea Coast Echo has brought to the attention of Hancock County the deplorable condition of the Willie Dunklin Family's home on 504 State Street.

Through the tireless efforts of Mrs. Geraldine Lang, part of their home was salvaged, and the rest burned, due to the deplorable condition it was in. This family is now living in a house on State Street which is not much better than their old home, awaiting completion of their house which is to be rebuilt.

Mrs. Lang has appealed to several of the building supply merchants in the area, the Seabees of Gulfport, contractors, churches, and civic organizations and has gotten some of the funds as well as supplies which are needed.

The amount needed to complete this worthwhile project is $1,500 and only $200 has been received at the Hancock Bank for the Willie Dunklin Fund as of this Tuesday.

I would appreciate your bringing this to the attention of your readers in hopes they would give a little of their time or money to help this elderly couple who cannot help themselves.

Any contributions can be mailed to the Hancock Bank, c/o The Willie Dunklin Fund and any questions will be answered by Mrs. Geraldine Lang at 497-9588.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Emile (Sis) Schindler, Jr.

Senator Cochran reports

Senator Thad Cochran is sponsoring legislation to better gauge the costs and impact of proposed new federal laws on state and local governments.

"Congress must evaluate whether the total benefits of a program are justified by the total costs, and to decide how such costs are to be apportioned among the three levels of government—federal, state and local," he said.

Senator Cochran pointed out that state and local officials are right in urging Congressional committees to consider such cost impact legislation before enacting new federal laws.

The bill, S. 3087, would require the Congressional Budget Office to estimate costs to state and local governments in carrying out or complying with federal legislation. The bill would affect only those pieces of legislation reported by Congressional committees with an annual cost of $200 million or more to state and local units of government.

Senator Cochran noted that already the CBO undertakes such cost estimates to determine the fiscal impact on the federal government.

The bill, co-sponsored by a bipartisan group of Senators, has been referred to the Senate Committee on Governmental Affairs. Earlier, that panel's subcommittee on intergovernmental relations and the House Budget Committee conducted hearings on the matter.

or it is possible that Hancock County has made a complete turn around from not too many years ago when there were only Democrats.

Friday night will be homecoming for the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws. The Hawks from Hancock North Central will be visiting the Rocks and indications are there will be a very good game.

Both the Hawks and Rock-A-Chaws fell victims playing powerful teams last week and we are sure both will be striving for victory.

The Bay High Tigers will visit d'Iberville and they are probably going against the strongest team to face them thus far this season. The Tigers will have to give their all and more to take home a victory from the Warriors.

The Pirates of Pass Christian will motor to Monticello and we hope they won't get bus-sick on the long trip and bring home their second victory of the 1980 season.

Folks, we urge you to support your favorite team by attending the games when ever possible.

Bay budget totals almost $3.5 million

By ELLIS CUEVAS
The Bay St. Louis Council adopted a general fund budget of $1,064,700 as recommended by City Clerk Kelly McQueen at a recessed meeting Tuesday.

In addition to accepting the general fund, the Council accepted a Utility System budget of $1,345,000 for the Bay St. Louis Utility department.

This brings the Bay budget to a total of $3,409,700 for the year 1980-81 when the eight funds supported by millage are added. These funds totaling $1,034,300 include support to the school district, library, parks, and repayment of bonded indebtedness.

The general fund budget for 1980-81 is only $4,000 more than the 1979-80 budget, according to McQueen.

The 1980-81 budget reflects an increase of about $35,000 in operating capital because some free monies made up the 1979-80 budget.

McQueen said that with LEA and Hurricane Frederick monies the city picked up about $30,000 during the last budget year.

"The expenditures are less this year because we have not anticipated any extra monies. If the money becomes available we will then adjust the budget accordingly," McQueen stated.

If the revenue sharing monies become available there will be a public hearing for citizen input, according to the council.

Council President Pete Benvenuti stated, "We were told last January that there was a possibility that revenue sharing would be cut out or at least slowed down and that is what they (federal government) are doing."

Benvenuti then made a motion that all department heads be told not to make any capital expenditures until after January 1 when the tax monies start coming into the general fund.

Council member Harry Farve cautioned the Council about the coming year being an election year for the council's members and that they have to watch their expenses very close.

McQueen noted that during the months of February, March and April only 25 percent of the budget could be spent since it was an election year, according to the way he understands the law.

The millage for the general fund is 275 with the total for the city being set at 51.5 which includes the school system.

The 51.5 millage for the 1980-81 year is one mill above last year. One quarter of a mill has been set for the Gulf Regional Planning Commission and three quarters for the waste water project.

A hearing on the revenue sharing funds was held on Monday night with mention that $153,000 are available for the coming year.

The city expects $27,000 in addition to $124,000 already on hand performance of the employees," Bennett noted.

During the hearing, Charles Hirstius, spokesman for the Spanish Acres Subdivision, questioned whether any of the revenue sharing funds would be used for the overlay of the streets in the subdivision and was told no.

McQueen reported that in the utility budget, there are monies for gas line repairs and improvements. McQueen added, "Last year the water towers were painted and we have monies for gas line restoration."

McQueen's statement was made after Mrs. Geraldine Lang, spokesman for the Concerned Citizens wondered if anything would be done in the coming year to help relieve the 15 percent loss of the gas supply due to leaks.

Eve McDonald, coordinator for the Senior Citizens Activities thanked the Council for their consideration in the coming year.

Mrs. Lucile Witter, secretary for the RSVF, also expressed appreciation for her group's support by the Council.

A question arose about the monies scheduled for telephone bills by Mrs. Lang.

Benvenuti stated that the Council has had all department heads before them on that specific expense. The amounts budgeted is in line when the number of telephones are considered for each department, the council president noted.

Brother Pascal inquired about the tennis court situation on Ballentine Street.

A total of one half of a mill has been set aside in the Parks and Playgrounds Department for improvements and a matching funds from the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation is being sought, Benvenuti reported.

Harry Farve said that another basketball goal is planned and that $7,500 has been set aside with the hopes of getting another $7,500 from the Bureau of Outdoor Recreation.

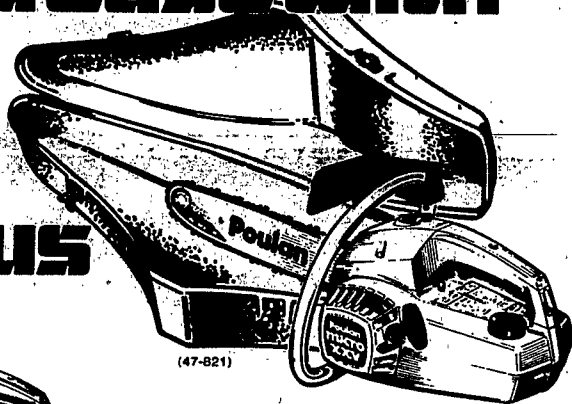

Lang expressed knowledge of the possibility of the City acquiring a community center and reported she would give further information to the Council at a later date.

Salaries for City employees were increased on an average of seven percent, according to Mayor Larry Bennett.

"Some were increased a little more, according to the salary and performance of the employees," Bennett noted.

Grades move.....

sider it an emergency."

"The entire structure is so unbound. With the recent rains the roof is leaking and the doors are improperly fitted," the third-grade teacher explained.

Dean complained of drafts from the doors and water collecting in light fixtures.

Sixth grade teacher Lynn Parrish explained she asked to teach the sixth grade to get out of a North Bay trailer and noted how ceilings in the trailers were sagging due to the leaks.

Dean added, "Our maintenance men punched holes in the ceilings so the water will leak out."

Trustee Betty Dibell stated, "I can't go to bed at night and be responsible for children in those buildings."

However, Parrish suggested not moving the sixth grade because it would be a "traumatic" experience for the children and alter her instructional program.

But fifth grade teacher Nell Woodall reported in several north Mississippi counties "elementary, middle and senior high schools" are commonplace and she saw "no problems" with those divisions.

North Bay Principal Rogers James stated, "I feel the school board should have looked at this situation a long time ago."

"The principal suggested the board formulate a 'long-range' plan for removal of the trailers and recommended not moving the students until next fall.

"I'm thinking of the adjustment of teachers and students. We just picked a bad time," James said.

Ginn expressed concern for the "health and welfare" of children and stated, "We could have a child electrocuted."

"Does this electrical problem exist?" Ginn asked James.

The principal replied, "Yes." James then recommended a move during Christmas holidays or at the end of the school year and reiterated, "I'm concerned about the adjustment problems."

Mississippi American Federation of Teachers Gulfport staff member Andrews Wilkinson of Waveland cited, "These problems which we're stating are rather minor compared to the problems which will be facing you if something isn't done."

Board President Virginia Gex stated, "I think there would be enough classrooms in the district for the move and this would make an excellent classroom right here (the board room)."

Thomas Raphael of the Bay-Waveland Committee for Better Education endorsed the move and explained, "Speaking as a teacher, there's nothing more aggravating to a class than a leaking roof or a draft from a door."

Woodall added she feared flying debris might kill children as they were fleeing the portable classrooms if a tornado threatened the school.

Singleton said, "Water in those outlets can cause an electrical short and a flash fire. We have to do something about those trailers."

A school patron blurted, "Those trailers ought to be shoved down with a bulldozer and put in a hole somewhere."

Forseeing the plight of the North Bay renovation discussion, Turcott asked McCulloch why School Architect Fred Wagner was not at the meeting and stated, "We can't very well answer questions without our architect being here."

McCulloch responded by placing responsibility for the renovation plan with various groups and committees.

"The administration should offer what we think should be done after we're asked to do it," the superintendent stated.

"We can't pass a bond issue. A recommendation should come from the community," he said.

Ginn shot back, "I think a recommendation should come from the administration as well as teacher and taxpayers."

Wilkinson cited, "From what I just heard, it goes to show a lack of planning in the school system. We're paying the salaries for the expertise of these administrators."

"Citizens have recommended programs before and nothing has been done. It was a citizen who had a study of school growth made and a committee recommended the formation of an Educational Needs Assessment Committee which hasn't met yet," he explained.

The superintendent is responsible for calling meetings of the committee.

North Bay Parent-Teacher Organization Secretary-Treasurer Lana Noonan stated, "I'd like to remind McCulloch he's not unique in his attitude. Alan Ray of the Biloxi school system made the same comment recently."

"I didn't know we were here for a bond issue?" Noonan added.

"We'd like to see the architects 1979 study to see if any of those ideas could be implemented. Where is it?" Noonan asked.

After a moment of silence McCulloch reported, "Wagner has it. He has the drawings, but I believe he recommended the possibility of a new cafeteria and renovating the library."

Ginn reported the 1979 plan called for six new classrooms and cafeteria renovation which totaled $600,000.

Wilkinson recommended the needs committee make a recommendation. McCulloch stated, "It was my recommendation earlier that these ideas come from organizations in the community. That's what I meant."

Woodall recommended teachers contribute information for a renovation proposal "because we know what works at the school and what doesn't."

After Ginn recommended forming another committee, Singleton stated, "I've found, the more committees you form the less action will be taken."

James cited teachers, administrators and patrons are represented on the needs committee which would eliminate the need for another committee.

"These people will pull information from their constituents," he explained.

Safety Commission recalls dangerous crib products

Paul Rankin of the Mississippi State Board of Health has announced in cooperation with the U. S. Consumer Product Safety Commission the recall of two products that could strangle small children.

Elastic crib decorations known as "Kickers" and two types of stuffed animal mobiles are under recall, Rankin said.

The "Kicker" has soft-sculptured fabric designs strung on a white elastic cord. A plastic ring is attached to each end of the elastic cord so that the decoration may be stretched across a crib or baby carriage and tied to the sides with ribbons. If the baby kicked or handled the decoration, the fabric designs could slide and expose enough elastic cord to possibly hurt the child.

The stuffed animal mobiles are intended to be suspended from ceilings or cribs by a metal spring and two white string cords. No injuries or deaths have been associated with the toys, but a similar toy was involved last year in the strangulation of an 11-month-old child who got entangled in the elastic suspension cords.

Animal mobiles being recalled include an Albert Price duck, model 9160, and an elephant, model 9161.

For more information, readers may call the Consumer Product Safety Commission's toll-free hotline at 800-638-6326.

Kiln Library display shows

Curet's Grocery

Currently being highlighted at the Kiln branch of the Hancock County Library System is a painting by Carl Baldenhofer of Waveland.

The painting is of a long-time Kiln landmark, Curet's Grocery. Kiln residents will note that Baldenhofer has taken some artistic license with the scene by moving the sign closer to the building and painting in the old fashioned gas pumps.

"Curet's Grocery" may be viewed in the main room of the Kiln Library during regular hours - Tuesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. The Library is closed for lunch from 1 to 1:30 p.m.

As Turcotte ended his talk, the first applause of the night was heard from about 80 percent of the people in attendance.

Early in the meeting, Pam Griffin, teacher, reporting she was representing the Bay St. Louis Federation of Teachers, read a lengthy letter stating opposition to varsity type organized athletics at the elementary school level.

Her statement included "...In a school, the existence of organized interscholastic athletics seems to have a detrimental effect on the existence of a well rounded, effective physical education program... We simply wish to say that a good physical education program is essential to the physical development of children in the elementary school level."

Coach Billy Rhodes, PE instructor, was praised for his sequential program in the attainment of motor skills which he is conducting by the letter.

The group further stated "...prohibiting an inter-school competitive sports program which is of a varsity pattern with scheduled games and a championship in grades 1-6 and discouraging such a program in grades 7-8 when they are included in the elementary school..."

Head Football Coach James (Snuffy) Smith inquired who had signed the letter and Ms. Griffin said no one yet and then was asked how many teachers were involved with the statement and was not given a definite answer.

Ms. Lana Noonan, North Bay PTO spokesman, questioned how much was allocated to the physical education department and how much to the athletic programs.

Waveland Elementary Principal James Aldree said as far as he could recall about $1,500 for the athletic program and $800 for the PE equipment.

Mention was made by Baldree that much of the same things used by the PE department are purchased by the athletic department and that there is no need for duplicate purchases.

Council member James Thrifflay said he was taking exception to those who want to drop competitive sports in the elementary schools.

Thrifflay said, "Personally as a professional educator, the Southern Association does one thing for us, it takes our money. The elimination of the elementary program, I think they are off base. As a professional educator, I never see any pressures from the coaches or parents on kids. All I see is a good taste in the mouths."

Thrifflay is a teacher at St. Stanislaus.

Wilmer Seymour, Bay councilman and athletic director for the Bay school system, reported, "We have a good program and qualified coaches. We are trying to reach a total program."

Seymour indicated that if the school board and administration wanted to drop the sporting activities in the elementary school system he would have to go along with their wishes.

The athletic director mentioned a recent incident saying, "The other day I saw coach Rhodes leaning up against the fence looking real sad. I asked him what happened and he told me that his star player had to drop football because of bad grades. A few minutes later a student with his uniform in his hand and tear flowing down his cheeks with his parent went up to coach Rhodes and said Coach I am sorry. I will do better with my grades next week."

Indications are that if the elementary schools would decide on seeking accreditation from the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools they would be unable to compete with other schools. Intermural sports are permissible after school hours with volunteer coaches.

Ms. Betty Dibol, school board member, said she had listened to all the opinions and that when she was ready to make her decision, "it will be for the child."

Wilkinson, president of the American Federation of Teachers, commented, "I think there are some misunderstandings, as I am for sports. The accreditation by the Southern Association instead of State accreditation should provide for a better education of our children."

Indications were that there should be another meeting of the same type for more expression of opinions by the majority of persons leaving the meeting.

OLA Book Fair dates announced

Our Lady's Academy Book Fair will be Oct. 17, 3-5 p.m. and Oct. 18, 9 a.m. - 5 p.m.

The fair is sponsored annually by the Our Lady's Academy PTO.

Records, paperbacks, novels, condensed Reader's Digest novels, children's books, National Geographic, and Reader's Digest will be sold.

"However, more books are needed," a spokesman said. "Books may be donated at Bradford's Seafood on Coleman Avenue in Waveland or at the OLA office," the spokesman noted.

Pickups may be arranged by telephoning Carol Martinovich at 467-4575, or Beverly Necaise at 467-5818, chairman. "All donations will be greatly appreciated and are tax deductible," the spokesman noted.

Army awards $31.6 million in Hancock plant contracts

U.S. Congressman Trent Lott announced Tuesday that the U.S. Army has awarded two contracts totaling $31.6 million for construction of two key units at the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant in Hancock County.

Lott said he was notified by the Army that Blount International Ltd. of Montgomery, Ala., received a $28,214,946 contract to build a mechanical plant at the facility.

The second contract was awarded to Mason Chamberlain Inc. of Piquette in the amount of $3,479,000 for development of a manufacturing complex for improved conventional munitions.

"I am delighted to see continued development of this important ammunition plant in Mississippi," Lott said. "Our military forces are counting on the improved ammunition to help upgrade our combat capability."

The plant, on which construction started in 1978, is scheduled for a mid-1980's completion and will manufacture artillery ammunition.

The facility is the first ammunition plant to be constructed in the United States since 1945.

Alcoholism fundraiser slated in Mobile

Fred Johnson Sr. of Mobile has been chosen local chairman for Father Joseph C. Martin's "Ashley" fundraiser in Mobile.

"Father Martin will be speaking in Mobile, Oct. 14 at the Dauphin Way Baptist Church, Dauphin & Ann Streets at 8 p.m. on behalf of 'Ashley'—a treatment center for alcoholics to be constructed in North Carolina. Tickets will be $7.50 and will be sold at the door. All donations are tax deductible."

Johnson reported,

"Father Martin's 'Ashley' is so named in honor of the Reverend Arthur Ashley and his wife, Molly, parents of Mae Abraham, Father Martin's associate of many years. It is on the Ashley Farm were the center will stand. It will be built in their memory and in gratitude for those of their children who have recovered from the disease," he explained.

Father Martin is an ordained priest for Archdiocese of Baltimore, May 22, 1940. He taught at colleges in California and Maryland and has been involved in alcoholism since January, 1959. As well as free-lancing as a consultant on alcoholism since Fall 1973, being a graduate of Rutgers Summer School of Alcohol Studies, he has lectured and provided consultancy service for the U.S. armed services in the United States, Europe, Asia, Panama, Iceland and Antarctica; U.S. Civil Service; P.M.E. programs in Maryland, Ohio and New Jersey.

He has made the 'Chalk Talk on Alcohol' for the U.S. Navy and has become the principal educational vehicle on alcoholism for most branches of the federal government, especially the armed services, and is also used in industry and the Mayo Clinic as well as other medical facilities, hospitals, rehabilitation centers, and state alcoholism programs.

"Ashley" will be a center for research and for the education of counselors, doctors, nurses, social workers, lawyers and others whose professions will affect the lives of alcoholics, Johnson said.

Contributions may be mailed to 'Friends of Father Martin,' P.O. Box 6753, Mobile, Ala. 36680.

SEEKING CHAMBER ACTION—Romie Ferrell of Waveland, representing the Gulf Fishermen's Association of Hancock County, urges the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors to join county supervisors, Waveland aldermen and Bay Council in declaring the 1980 shrimp season a disaster. Ferrell said the resolutions will be presented to Gov. William Winter for his help in securing federal assistance for Hancock's commercial fishermen who have suffered heavy losses this season due to poor catches of shrimp and an expected poor oyster season. Ferrell spoke at the Chamber's September board of directors meeting in Bay St. Louis. (Staff photo by Edgar Perez)

Citizens cite classrooms, teachers as pressing needs

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

A lack of teachers and classrooms were primary complaints of Hancock County School District patrons participating in a public meeting with school officials at Hancock North Central-Saturday morning.

Some 14 citizens attended the grievance session in the high school's library with Board President Woodrow Ladner, Board Member Johnny Banks, Superintendent of Education Billy D. Sills and HNC Principal Donald Hillman.

Board Members Louie and Oris Ladner attended a board meeting in Bay St. Louis just prior to the HNC forum, but did not show up at the open discussion which began about one-half hour later.

The board recessed to HNC, but did not have enough members to form a quorum. One more member was needed.

Woodrow Ladner explained to a curious patron at the HNC meeting that Oris and Louie Ladner were unable to attend due to business obligations.

A school patron stated at the end of the meeting, "If we would have had one more board member here we might have been able to do something."

Sills reported an advanced high school algebra teacher had not been employed yet, even after canvassing universities in seven states.

Woodrow Ladner cited the local high school's 'isolation' as a problem in hiring teachers due to long distances teachers must travel from their residences.

A patron recommended a bond issue to build a housing complex for teachers, but Banks reported the state had vetoed a similar proposal several years ago.

Woodrow Ladner said the district had offered teachers free space to park trailers near the school.

An escrow bank account was recommended by one patron to accumulate donations for salary supplements for teachers.

Hillman reported a surplus of certified teachers exists in every academic area except mathematics.

"Louisiana even passed a resolution to hire non-certified teachers to teach math due to a shortage of certified math teachers," the principal said.

"We have a math program underway and we'll have certified people to teach it," Hillman stated.

However, the principal explained the 'certified' teachers would not possess mathematics certification.

Banks reported, "We had our math teacher just up and leave. We have a grievance policy, but this teacher just up and leaves."

A patron replied, "Some people would rather not make waves. Banks said no teacher had ever filed a grievance."

The patron replied, "Well doesn't that tell you something? The teachers don't trust the board."

Banks replied, "I don't believe that." A school patron stated, "I think the teacher problem is because of bad publicity the district has received."

"You need to improve the district's image," the patron suggested.

"If the staff isn't like the paper says it is, then get a lawyer and fight them," a citizen said.

However, another school patron stated the press is only printing what takes place at board meetings.

A former HNC teacher cited political discrimination against teachers as a problem in the school district.

"Until you straighten out the politics you're still going to get bad publicity," she explained.

Banks stated, "We've been tried and convicted by the newspapers."

"I don't want one penny from one contractor and I have never asked for one penny," Banks said regarding an ongoing investigation of repair contracts at Gulfview Elementary School.

However, a patron replied, "I know some things that went on in that contract that I'm ashamed of."

Woodrow Ladner defended the newsmedia and stated, "They have the right to print what they want."

The board president defended constitutional freedom of the press along with construction work the board authorized at Gulfview.

"If it's a crime what we did at Gulfview, then I'm public enemy number one," he added.

Coast Fair to feature elephants

Remo Christiana transports spectators about in much the same manner as some inhabitants travel in Africa or India. He has four elephants trained to provide rides for those who really want to go native.

Christiani and his pets will be part of the Gulf Coast Fair and Exposition at the Coliseum, a part of the Amusement Corporation of America Rod Link Show, sponsored by Joppa Shrine Temple.

The four pachyderms will be performing and taking people for rides through the Fair's run, Oct. 22 through 28.

Christiani is a part of the family that owned the Christiani Brothers Circus for many years. He has the last elephant imported into the United States, four year old Romany. He is the featured act with the Todd Victoria combined Royal Danish Circus which will be performing twice daily, free to Fair-goers.

Elephants grow throughout their entire lifetimes, and have approximately the same life span as humans, so 24 year old Sheba stands over 9 feet tall. The smaller (or maybe less large) Shancy is a mere child of 10 and stands over 6 feet tall at the shoulder. And Soma, a baby of 5, is at least 5 feet tall.

citizen cited, "We've had a lack of classrooms at North Central for the last 10 years."

Woodrow Ladner stated a shortage exists due to county residents voting down two bond issues for an additional high school in south Hancock County.

The patron said the bond issue politically caused "a lot of confusion."

"We can operate with the schools we have by just building additional classrooms," the patron suggested.

Another patron cited recent comments by Educational Finance Commission Director Dr. Frank Lovell that an additional school "wasn't feasible."

In reference to the board's scheduled meeting with the EFC Oct. 20, the patron asked, "Are you going to Jackson to hear the same thing again?"

Banks reported, "Sills recommended at a recent board meeting to build 20 classrooms at our schools throughout the county and the board didn't act."

A patron then asked the board to vote to build the needed classrooms, but Woodrow Ladner cited a quorum was not present.

"After Oct. 20 I promise there will be some positive action by the board," the board president said.

Woodrow Ladner also cited the board's desire to build a junior high school in southern Hancock County.

A citizen asked, "Wouldn't it be cheaper to add more classrooms to existing facilities? We would get the most done for the least amount of money."

Banks replied, "The people aren't going to back us unless we get rid of the $1 million we have in savings."

After explaining school funding procedures, Ladner cited, "We have two groups of people to satisfy in this county."

A patron asked, "You're saying you are going to try to satisfy everyone? That's ridiculous!"

The board president replied, "I don't think it's ridiculous proposal."

The patron stated, "You said you're going to make this proposal in Jackson for the people on the south end of the county."

Several school patrons invited the two board members at two points in the meeting to inspect the HNC bathrooms, but received no response from the officials.

The patrons cited a lack of toilet paper and questioned the cleanliness of the facilities.

Hillman explained the building could not be locked and that he had instructed janitors to remove the toilet paper during weekends because vandals were littering halls with the paper.

Patrons also reported a shortage of paper napkins in the cafeteria and complained of athletic equipment being left outdoors after school hours.

BKW Boxing Club opens '80 season in new arena

By EDGAR PEREZ

The Bay-Kill-Waveland Boxing Club hosts its first hometown event of the season Saturday night at the Hancock County Fairgrounds Exhibit Hall.

First contest on a 20-bout card is slated to begin at 7:30 p.m.

"We are looking for some knockouts," said BKW coach

John Whisenhunt. "with fighters expected from the Slidell Police Athletic League as well as the Marrero, La. and Hattiesburg Boxing Clubs."

Whisenhunt said the local club will feature two welterweight fighters from St. Stanislaus making their boxing debuts Saturday night.

Also Saturday, a rematch is scheduled between mid-dleweights Dale Watts of the BKW Club and 20-year-old Robbin Willfarm of Biloxi Boxing Club.

Watts scored a technical knockout over Willfarm last week at International Plaza in Biloxi where Watts made his boxing debut.

An 18-year-old construction worker from Waveland, Watts knocked Willfarm down with a left hook to the jaw in one minute, 35 seconds of the first round, according to Whisenhunt.

Willfarm struggled to his feet and was leaning on the ropes at the count of ten.

The Biloxi Club called for the rematch, even though AAU rules clearly stipulate a fighter must be on his feet, unsupported and ready to fight by the eight count, the local coach reported.

Also in Biloxi last week Vincent Santalla of BKW defeated Carl Stockley of Pascagoula in a unanimous decision after three one-minute rounds.

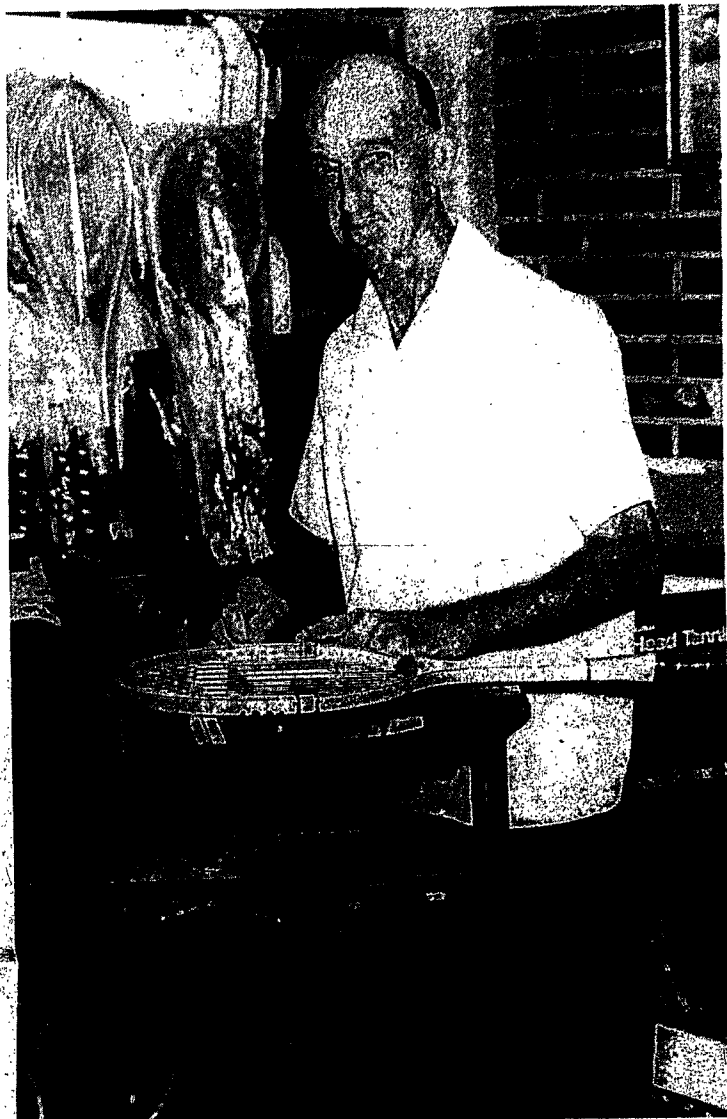

"Vincent launched a head and body attack early and maintained it throughout his match," Whisenhunt said.

Santalla will be carrying a 3-0-1 record into the Saturday fights here.

Chris Whisenhunt, a 41-pound 4-year-old fought Chris Husley of Biloxi in an aggressive, crowd-pleasing exhibition. Both boxers receive trophies in the Robert Padilla served as corner coach for BKW in Biloxi. Unable to schedule matches in Biloxi were Fredman Laglas, Eric Whisenhunt, Bob and Brian Watts, all of Bay-Kill-Waveland.

Tickets for the Saturday night fights at Hancock Fairgrounds will be on sale at the door, $2.50 for 12-year-olds and above and $1 for children.

Hawks prepping for strong SSC

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The Hawks of Hancock North Central will face county rival St. Stanislaus Friday night in Bay St. Louis.

Irvin Favre, head mentor for the Hawks said yesterday, "We will be ready for the Rock-A-Chaws with all players in good shape with the Doubtful starting of Faron Hoda, corner on defense and punter."

Favre reported that Hoda had a muscle pull from the Vancleave contest and that he was responding to treatment very slowly.

The Hawks are 2-2 for the season with the Rock-A-Chaws 3-1 and Favre recognized the difference in season records.

Favre commented, "Barry Jones always has a fine football team. His squad this year is probably the best defensive ground he has ever gotten together. Our offense will have to break their defense if we expect to win."

Sports Brief

PEE WEE HAWKS WIN

The Pee Wee Hawks from Hancock North Central Elementary defeated Pearl River 14-14 Monday night. Brett Favre and Scott Nackle scored one TD each. Two point conversions after the TDs in addition to a safety made up the Hawk scoring.

The volunteer coaches for the Hawks are Don Smith and Paul Cuevas. The Pee Wee Hawks will play Pearl River again on Monday night at Charles B. Murphy, at 6:30 p.m.

"I am expecting a real intense game, some hard knocking, some bruises. As you know, whenever any of the three county teams play each other, it is a good contest. I am hoping it will be a clean contest with both teams coming out of the game without injuries," Favre allowed.

It will be homecoming for Stanislaus and Favre mentioned that will be an additional incentive for the Rocks to win.

The Hawks have defeated Bay High and the winner of the game will be considered the county champion.

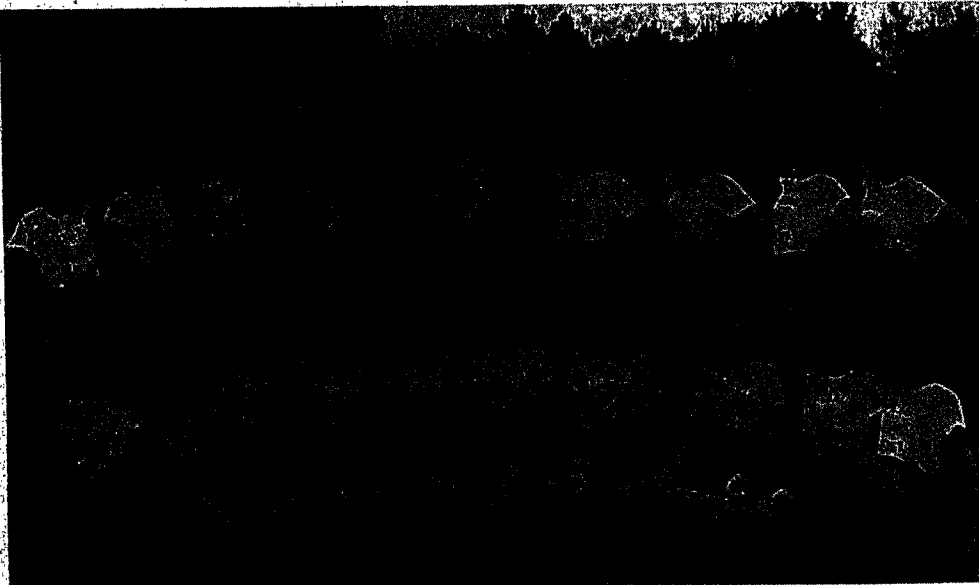

Favre said, "Whenever any of the three county teams play each other, previous records do not mean anything. The team getting the first break may win. It is always a good contest."

"I know the Rock-A-Chaws will have fine fan support and I hope that our loyal supporters from the county will travel with us to Bay St. Louis Friday night," Favre allowed.

There will be a contest Thursday evening with kick-off at 6 p.m. at the Hawk Stadium between the ninth grade teams of both schools.

Kick-off for the varsity contest will be 7:30 p.m. Friday in the Rock-A-Chaw stadium.

Julie Ross, Lumberton; Libby Saxon, Lumberton; Sherie Ladner, Pass Christian; and standing from left, Sandra McNabb, Purvis; Lisa Daley, Bassfield; Missal Sones, Carriere; Wendy Abrams, Bogalusa; Debbie Brint, Piquette; Pam Campbell, Purvis; Debra Fortenberry, Columbia; Angel Hall, Purvis, and Dee Dee Strickland, Bogalusa.

PASS FACES MONTICELLO—Tailback Bryan Charlot, No. 21, of Pass Christian moves to evade a Vancleave defender in a contest earlier this year. Pirate tight end Michael Hall, No. 81, and flanker Melvin James, No. 42, clear the way for the ballcarrier. The Pirates travel to Monticello in Lawrence County Friday to meet the Class A Red Devils on home ground. The Pirates are 1-2 after a victory over Bay High last week.

Monticello is 1-2 having lost to three powerful teams, according to Pass head coach Bob Lumpkin. The Red Devils are defending Southern Athletic Conference Champions. The Pirates make their trip with two on the injured list and two doubtful due to bruises and illness, the coach reported. (Staff photo by Edgar Perez)

GET THE BALL BACK!—Dave Ross listens intently as the St. Stanislaus coaching staff discusses the next play. The Rock-A-Chaws lost the game to Slidell, 17-4. The Rocks will entertain Hancock North Central Friday night in a homecoming contest. Game time is 7:30 p.m. "We've worked extra hard this week in an effort to get back on the winning track," commented Coach Barry Jones. "The Hawks have an excellent ballclub and we're looking forward to an exciting football game." Coaches pictured above are, from left, Jimmy Meyers, head coach Barry Jones, Howard McNeil, and Vernon Powell. (Staff photo—Jimmy Fender)

CROAKERS RUNNING IN PEARL—Lakeshore resident Bobby Little, left, of LaFrance's Fishing Camp in Anley surveys catch of some 75 nice croakers running as large as 16 ounces made Monday in the East Pearl River by E.J. Perez, center, of New Orleans, and N.F. (Fab) Curet of Pineville.

Bowhunting deer season opens Saturday

This weekend will be a big one for most Mississippi sportsmen as the hunting season picks up. Squirrels, deer and rabbits will be on the minds of most.

Squirrels, the state's most popular small game animal, will be the target of much attention Saturday, Oct. 4 when the season opens in Zone I. Open counties are those north of and including: Warren, north of Yazoo, Madison, Attala, Montgomery, Grenada, Calhoun, Pontotoc, Union, Prentiss and Tishomingo.

Each year over 167,000 squirrel hunters spend some 1.5 million days afield, according to one Department of Wildlife Conservation survey. They average harvesting approximately 3.3 million squirrels, or just slightly over two per day.

Shooters are permitted a daily bag limit of eight squirrels and a possession limit of 16. A possession limit is not allowed on opening day. The season will extend through Dec. 23. Beginning this year state law allows hunters to shoot squirrel with an unplugged shotgun.

The state's first deer season will make its debut Oct. 4. Only hunters using longbows will be allowed to take the daily limit of one adult buck (no season limit), or one antlerless deer. Hunters are limited to two antlerless deer per season.

Agency biologists say that archery hunters should have another good season, due to the state's expanding deer herd.

Wildlife officials say that dogs, crossbows, sidearms and all firearms are prohibited while hunting deer during this archery season that will extend through October 30.

Rabbits, easily the state's most numerous small game animal, also will be hunted beginning Oct. 4. This season, which lasts through Feb. 28, permits shooters a daily limit of eight and a possession limit of 16.

PRC to entertain East Central

Pearl River and East Central will put identical 2-2 marks on the line in Poplarville Saturday night in the Doble Holden Stadium.

In fact, the two south division clubs have a whole lot in common for their fifth game of the season. The Wildcats and Warriors are 0-2 in the division, with each having something less than a slim chance to make the playoffs.

On top of this, Coaches J.C. Arban, of the Wildcats and Ken Pouncey of the Warriors, each know they have a pretty darn good ball club and with a little better luck and more execution could have been in the thick of the 1980 race.

"I told my boys to quit worrying about who'll be in the playoffs and go out there Saturday and have a good time playing football," said Arban.

The Wildcats dropped a 28-5 decision to the Hinds Eagles last week in Raymond. The loss propelled the Eagles into a first place tie in the south and left the Wildcats in last position with the Warriors.

"With only six conference games on schedule, it is a very remote chance we can make it back into the playoffs," Arban said, "so that means we now have to play for pride and see how confusing we can make the league for other teams."

The contest Saturday night should be one heck of a good football game. The Wildcats have defeated Delta 9-0 and Coahoma 51-7 while losing to Jones 17-0 and Hinds by 23 points.

East Central has won over Holmes 14-9 and Northwest 23-17. The Warriors setbacks have been to Gulf Coast 31-8 and Co-Lin 21-3. It's a proven fact that the Warriors and Wildcats can put points on the board, so the contest should be a very exciting spectator affair.

It just may be the night may have too much fireworks. "I'm scared of their passing attack," said Arban, who saw his Wildcat defensive secondary give up 231 yards through the air last week, while the Eagle rushing game was limited to a mere 27 yards.

"They have two quarterbacks (Jim Kennamer and Michah Hazelwood) who can really pitch the ole pigskin," Arban said, "and to top that, they have a good receiver in Randy Hornesburger."

The Wildcat coach said he is drilling his secondary on tighter coverage and also his receivers on how to run better patterns and to vet open more. "We had the best pass protection of the year, last week," Arban said, "but, our receivers just were not running the routes to get open."

Arban said his Wildcats were not giving up on the season. "You know an 8-2 overall record, would not be too bad at all." The Wildcat head master was quick to point out that his team would have to take one week at a time and play with continued hustle and determination.

"You know most teams would have a tendency to give up at this point," Arban said, "but, I really don't believe the players we have will do that."

Arban was very complimentary of his defensive front for their efforts last week. "We stopped their running attack cold," Arban said, "and linebacker Kevin McEmore did an outstanding job."

McEmore was credited with one interception and

Poetry first place prize is $1,000

A $1,000 grand prize will be awarded in the Sixth Annual Fall Poetry Competition sponsored by the World of Poetry, a quarterly newsletter for poets.

Poems of all styles and on any subject are eligible to compete for the grand prize or for 49 other cash or merchandise awards.

Says poetry editor Eddie-Lou Cole, "We are encouraging poetic talent of every kind, and expect our contest to produce exciting discoveries — like Virginia Bates, a housewife from Woodbine, Maryland. She won our grand prize last year with her poem PIETA."

Rules and official entry forms are available from World of Poetry, 2431 Stockton Blvd., Dept. N, Sacramento, California 95817.

An extraordinary example of engineering on a very small scale is the Somerset drawbridge at Ely's Harbor in Bermuda. It opens only wide enough to let a sailboat's mast slide past.

THE MISSISSIPPI COASTAL PROGRAM

On October 1, 1980, the Mississippi Coastal Program will become effective in Jackson, Harrison, and Hancock counties. The Mississippi Coastal Program's rules, regulations, guidelines, and procedures replace existing rules and regulations for wetlands; they were published in The Clarion-Ledger to meet legal requirements for statewide circulation.

For the public's information, complete copies of the Mississippi Coastal Program document are available from the Bureau of Marine Resources. Groups or individuals interested in knowing more about the program should contact the Bureau office.

Dedeaux leads Perk in East Central rout

A couple of things are worrying Gulf Coast Junior College football coach George Sekul. For one, his Bulldogs play defense-minded Mississippi Delta at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Perkinson Campus.

And for the other, the game in A.L. May Memorial Stadium falls only one week before the annual grudge match at Pascagoula with the Pearl River Wildcats of Poplarville.

Sekul says he finds “Little encouragement” in Delta’s dismal record, now 1-3 following the Trojan’s 35-0 trouncing last week of hapless Coahoma (0-4).

“We’ve had offensive problems all year,” admits Sekul. “And our 31-6 victory over East Central last Saturday was due in large measure to our defense forcing nine turnovers.”

Sekul predicts the Bulldogs “could have scored more touchdowns in racking up their first South Division win, upping the overall record to 3-1.”

“But, as we have in every game, the offense bogged down at the goal—something we can’t afford to do against a team like Delta. They’ve lost games, sure; but only by narrow margins. Their defense is stingy.”

Offensively, Sekul describes the Trojans from Moorhead as “sound. They’ve simply had a hard time scoring. So the game could shape up as a defensive battle.”

With the Pearl River tilt looming large, Sekul fears his players “will be looking ahead instead of minding the task at hand. We can’t afford that luxury,” he adds.

If eyeing the Wildcats could be dangerous, “looking beyond them to Jones and Hinds” could be sheer disaster,” Sekul fears. Jones, defending state champions by virtue of its post-season drubbing of Gulf Coast last year, is on the Bulldogs’ schedule for Oct. 18. Hinds, winless in 1979 until it upset Sekul’s charges, follows on Oct. 25. Both are undefeated this year in the South Division.

Of the 14 teams that comprise the state junior college football conference, only Northeast’s squad is undefeated. “They are ranked first in the nation this week,” says Sekul. Gulf Coast will not meet them in regular play this year.

Recounting highlights of the East Central game, Sekul said the Bulldogs made five interceptions and recovered four fumbles.

Three of the interceptions were snagged by safety Willie Fountain of Moss Point who returned one for a touchdown. Another defensive standout was end Walter Ballard of Pascagoula. He knocked down two passes and recovered a fumble.

On offense, running back Mackie Dedeaux of Pass Christian carried 13 times for 84 yards and two touchdowns. Scoring highest on blocking was center Willie Fountain of Moss Point.

guard; Joey Rouse, Stone, 6-3, 222, center; Donald Smith, Gulfport, 5-10, 255, right guard; Danny Bellew, Harrison Central, 6-3, 245, right tackle; Lonnie Jenkins, Pass Christian, 5-11, 197, strong end; Frytogle and Woodson, quarterbacks; Sherman Robinson, Moss Point, 5-9, 170, left running back; Dedeaux and Howard Galloway, Ocean Springs, 5-9, 150, flanker.

Bay Junior High School defeated Pass Christian Junior High School 16-0 in local rivalry last week.

Bay defense pressured Pass Christian Pirates deep in their own territory forcing them to fumble in the endzone.

The ball was recovered by Jerry Head of the Tigers.

The Tigers first touchdown was set up on a blocked punt by Earl Terry. Harold Gillum plunged in for a four yard touchdown on a hand off by Bell. PAT failed.

Bay High’s second touchdown was by David Carver catching a pass from Bell for a 12-yard T.D.

Point after was made by Harold Gillum.

“Offensively we played good team ball and team efforts. The stand out this week are: Jerry Head, Dwayne Neelise, Eugene Raymond, Mark Johnson, Eric Favre, Michael Orlin and David Carver for the line,” said Coach Cleveland Williams. Backs were Peter Bell, Tony Maurice, Earl Terry, Harold Gillum, Darin Smith, Mark Gambino and Larry Giveans.

Tuesday Bay Junior High Tigers at home face D’Iberville, the only undefeated team in the conference.

CHICKEN RIGHTS NEXT?

A new breed of bleeding hearts has arrived at the hen house door as predicted by this columnist in special report for the wire service from the American Farm Bureau Federation's last annual meeting in Phoenix, Arizona, in January.

The latest episode in a newly begun saga of "Chickens Are People, Too" took place recently in the nation's capital and was reported by Mary Wright in a recent issue of an egg producer's newsletter. The premise is uncanny, yet already investigations have resulted from demonstrations protesting treatment of poultry by the Arrow Live Poultry Company.

What this hassle is all about is that for some reason a group of social activists have moved from human cares to animal and fowl concerns, including their social concerns. Placards displayed by the group in the nation's capital admonished passerby to "Stop Needless Suffering", "Know Who You Eat", and "Arrow Birds are Raised in Filth". This last complaint, as might be expected, brought on a hasty USDA inspection which found no evidence of disease, according to Veterinarian Louis Burgman, whose office conducted the inspection.

Undeterred by facts, the protesters continued to pass out leaflets charging the market with selling malnourished and diseased animals.

But, let's hear it from the involved. Karen Jackson of People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals (a four-month-old group devoted to the issue of animal awareness) told reporters that this is just another element of social justice. "It diminishes society if you exploit (the chickens)."

Another member of PETA, Donna Kessler said, "Chickens are very sensitive animals. They (the poultry store's owners) throw them down like furniture. When they're ready to slaughter them, they bind their feet and wings in front of all the other chickens. It's horrible."

The confrontation between Mike and Connie Huneycutt, owners of the market, and the chicken lovers was fueled several months ago when a Washington Humane Society officer had a warrant issued for Mike Huneycutt's arrest on a charge of "cruelly killing" animals. The charge later was dropped, but the battle was joined by other protesters whose ranks included the Coalition for the Liberation of Animals and the Vegetarian Information Service, vowing to continue their fight until Arrow is closed down. One woman summed up the campaign: "We feel that chickens have personalities too."

Poultry production is a big business in Mississippi while consumerism in this state involves virtually everyone. While the above incidents may be regarded as silly, the fact remains that they are real and are a part of a movement afoot on a more widespread basis.

Caged laying hens already are under attack in Great Britain. And back here at home an article in a recent issue of Smithsonian magazine described the "hellish conditions" that prevail in modern laying operations, and then asked the rhetorical question: "If this seems like a scene conceived by Dante, well, who really is to say what a chicken wants?"

INDUSTRIAL AWARDS—Recent safety incentive award winners at Bergeron Marine in Port Blenville Industrial Park near Pearlington are, from left, Aaron Faye; G. Grills; T. A. Smith, leaderman; K. E. Whitney; R. Stiglet, superintendent; A. Pollard III, J. L. Lott, D. L. Flesher, W. R. Smith and A. E. Dupuis. (Photo by Bob Hubbard)

Oxford square receives U.S. historical status

The Oxford Courthouse Square Historic District has been entered in the National Register of Historic Places. Elbert R. Hilliard, director of the Mississippi Department of Archives and History, was recently notified of the new listing by the Heritage Conservation Service, of the U.S. Department of the Interior.

The Oxford Courthouse Square Historic District incorporates the central business section of Oxford, MS.

"Most of the buildings in the district were destroyed during the Civil War and subsequently rebuilt in the early 20th century," Hilliard said.

Some 61 of the buildings are constructed of brick, while only three are of frame construction. The two story brick and stuccoed brick buildings feature an abundance of Romanesque Revival style details.

"In the early 1970s restoration-rehabilitation activities were begun," Hilliard notes.

The historic district reflects a 150-year history of the small north Mississippi town which is home of the University of Mississippi.

The courthouse, which stands at the very center of the town square, was rebuilt in 1871 after it was destroyed by Union troops.

"The courthouse and the square provided the inspiration for William Faulkner's Yoknapatawpha County and its town of Jefferson."

Some of the major buildings in the district are: Neilson's Department Store, founded in 1839; the Freeland and Gafford law office, office of James Stone, who was Faulkner's advisor; the Lyric Theatre, the scene of the opening of the movie 'Intruder in the Dust,' based on Faulkner's novel; and the First Presbyterian Church, organized in 1837 and home of the oldest congregation in Oxford.

The National Register program, administered in Mississippi by the Department of Archives and History, identifies those properties worthy of preservation for their historic, architectural, or cultural significance and provides some measure of protection from alteration by federally supported projects.

In 1966 the Historic Preservation Act authorized the National Register of Historic Places.

"With the entry of the Oxford Courthouse Square Historic District Mississippi now has 328 entries in the National Register of Historic Places," Hilliard added.

ETV Brief

Humour from the other side of the Atlantic crosses the Mason-Dixon Line for a full hour of entertainment on Mississippi Educational Television Network on Thursday evenings.

Two popular British comedies, 'Ripping Yarns' and 'Doctor in the House,' return to Mississippi ETV beginning today.

'Ripping Yarns,' a television adaptation of the book by Monty Python-ers Michael Palin and Terry Jones, can be viewed at 8:30 p.m. Palin and Jones' tales of satire and frenzy include 'Across the Andes by Frog,' 'Escape from Stalag Luft 112B' and 'Murder at Moorstones Manor.'

'Ripping Yarns' in this time slot begins with episode one. However, 'Ripping Yarns' is already in progress at 9:30 p.m., Fridays. Today, the series will be at episode four in the Friday evening time slot.

'Doctor in the House' tells of the adventures and misadventures of young medical student Michael Upton, played by Barry Evans.

Ham radio, computer conference announced

Thousands of amateur radio and computer hobbyists from the Central Gulf South are expected to convene in Kenner, La. Oct. 11-12 for a New Orleans hamfest-computerfest, under its new name 'Amacom '80'.

"We will meet at the Airport Hilton Inn in Kenner to learn the latest developments in these hobbies, through forums and displays of the newest equipment," said spokesman William Bushnell.

Amacom will be sponsored by the Jefferson Amateur Radio Club.

A session for radio amateurs Oct. 11 will include a forum by the New Orleans field staff of the Federal Communications Commission; a meeting of the American Radio Relay League, with E. Laird Campbell of Newton, Conn., managing editor of 'QST' magazine, and Lionel Oubre of New Iberia, ARRL's Delta Division director; a gathering of the Navy Military Affiliate Radio System; a description of repeater linking, by the Southern Repeater Association; and a session with the Louisiana Council of Amateur Radio Clubs.

Among the computer forums Oct. 11 will be a discussion on how music synthesis and color graphics are put on printed circuit boards for computers, by David Troendle, design engineer for New Orleans General Data Systems, with James Blake, editor of 'Remar,' the Heathkit computer users group's magazine. In addition, Dr. James H. Abbott, a University of New Orleans mathematics professor, will speak about new uses for private computers.

The schedule for Oct. 12 includes two computer forums.

The Oct. 12 program for radio amateurs will include an Army MARS meeting; a discussion of disaster communications by the Radio Amateur Civil Emergency Service; and an introduction to round-the-world communication techniques with a description of amateur radio experiences by a U.S. amateur operator who recently visited Russia.

"Persons looking for bargains in used equipment can visit a flea market. New equipment will be displayed in the exhibit hall. Special events and prizes will be scheduled for those not interested in the electronics hobbies. The Oct. 12 program will conclude with a cocktail party which will begin at 8 p.m.

Visiting radio amateurs needing directions to the convention area may call on the WR5AGO repeater on 146.22-82 MHz.

For more details telephone Bushnell, 504-887-5022.

ETV Brief

Roger Ebert and Gene Siskel, the movie critics from rival Chicago newspapers, today begin their third season of "Sneak Previews," the consumer's guide to the movies.

"Sneak Previews" may be viewed this year at 8 p.m., Thursdays, beginning today with a rebroadcast each week at 10 p.m. on Fridays.

Movies to be critiqued on the first program are "Middle-Age Crazy," "Those Lips, Those Eyes," "Ordinary People" and "Willie and Phil."

Ebert and Siskel share their insights on film trends and issues and debate the movies that deserve a yawn or applause. They work as a team but quite often disagree with each other.

The special guest each week is Spot the Wonder Dog, who warns moviegoers of the "dogs-of-the-week" — the movies the critics feel should definitely be avoided. Ebert, a syndicated columnist for the Chicago Sun-Times, is the only film critic to have ever won a Pulitzer Prize for criticism. Gene Siskel has been a nationally syndicated film critic with the Chicago Tribune and WBBM-TV.

Alcoholics Anonymous institutes Coast public information service

Civic organizations, medical, dental, and legal societies, church or school groups, and agencies may now contact a new Public Information Committee of District 1, Alcoholics Anonymous through answering services listed in local telephone directories or by writing to PO Box 115, Biloxi, 39533.

AA's answering service for the Bay-Waveland area and other sections of Hancock County can be reached by calling 487-6414. In Pass Christian, the AA answering service number is 888-1114.

AA's public information program is designed to assist those interested in AA, to inform the public of the role of AA on the Gulf Coast and to carry the message of recovery to alcoholics through a third person. A large proportion of today's newcomers are making their first approach to AA at the suggestion of a nonalcoholic well-wisher - a doctor, member of the clergy, lawyer, social worker, employer, union representative, relative or friend, an AA spokesman reported.

Groups contacting the Public Information Committee can obtain AA speakers, displays, literature, and information on AA meetings open to the general public.

Alcoholics Anonymous is a fellowship of men and women who share their experience, strength and hope with one another in order to solve their common problem. The only requirement for membership is a desire to stop drinking.

More than 30 percent of new members are in the under-30 age group and women account for two of every five members - and in some meetings on the Gulf Coast, they form a majority.

The Committee will also furnish contacts for information on the Alanon and Alateen programs. Alanon is for families and others who are concerned about someone else's drinking.

The Alateen program is for young people whose lives are affected by another's drinking problems.

Mississippi's District 1 extends from Pearlington and Piquette, through Bay-Waveland, Pass Christian, Long Beach, Gulfport, Biloxi, Ocean Springs, to Pascagoula and Moss Point. There are more than 20 AA groups in this area, with meetings nightly in most areas.

AA, Alanon and Alateen are all anonymous programs and members guard their anonymity at the public media level. The Public Information committee will explain these requirements.

The Bay-Waveland and Pass Christian AA groups meet at 7:30 p.m. Sundays at Virginia Hall, Christ Episcopal Church, Bay St. Louis; 8 p.m. Mondays, St. Augustine Seminary, Bay St. Louis; 8 p.m. Wednesdays, Virginia Hall; 8 p.m. Thursdays, St. Augustine; 8 p.m. Fridays, Parish Hall, Trinity Episcopal Church, Pass Christian.

Alanon meets at 8 p.m. Mondays at St. Augustine and 8 p.m. Fridays at Trinity.

In November I'll need your vote.

Now I need your help.

I've represented Mississippi in Congress since 1973, and there's never been any doubt about my views. I was a conservative long before the label became fashionable in Washington. I've worked consistently for less government interference in our private lives, lower taxes, a strong national defense, and incentives to encourage Americans to take pride in helping themselves.

Nor has there ever been any doubt that my views reflect those of the majority of Mississippi's voters.

Nevertheless, I will have opposition in the November general election. To meet that challenge I need to finance my re-election campaign. And I hope to raise most of these funds through individual contributions from the voters I represent. So I need your help, and I'm asking for it: a little or a lot—whatever you can afford. If you can help, please send your check right away so we can get the campaign going. And thanks.

Trent Lott

Thigpen recalls tall tales of yesteryear

By S. GRADY THIGPEN
Tall tales back in the old days were a source of entertainment. If a person heard a big one, or an unusual story, it would be told and widely retold.

For instance, the one told by the owner of a Model-T Ford in the early days of this century: This man drove his old car down to Kiln. When he started back home his lights would not come on. He tried to find the trouble but could not find it. It was too dangerous to try to drive in the darkness with no light.

As he stood there by the side of the road pondering what to do, he noticed that there were many lightning bugs in the area. In fact, they were flying all around him.

He said to himself, "Why not try to use these bugs for lights on my car." He caught about two dozen of them. He put 12 in each of the lights in his car and got enough light from the lightning bugs to drive on home.

You have to believe this is true as the man who told it is a truthful man, and said the man, "If you don't believe me, I'll prove it. I'll show you the car."

An old timer who lived out at Walkah Bluff found a way to easily get all the fish he wanted any time he went to fishing. He would go to town and buy a plug of tobacco. He would cut the tobacco into small pieces and go out into the river in his boat.

When he would reach a likely looking place he would throw some of the tobacco into the water. Then he would wait a little while until the fish had plenty time to find the tobacco bait and get to chew some of it.

Then in a little while, after the fish had gotten the tobacco bait, they would come up to spit and he would hit them over the head and kill them. He says he never failed to get all the fish he wanted when he had plenty tobacco.

This same old gentleman says he once went out into Pearl River on a cool day. He had on a top coat with big pockets and a pair of hip boots. He says that while standing in his boat that day, a sudden jerk of the boat threw him into the river.

He went completely under water but managed to crawl out on the nearby bank. To his amazement, as he expressed it, all the pockets in his coat and both of his hip boots were loaded with fish.

When he weighed the fish, to his great surprise, he had over 40 pounds of catfish. He always said that if anyone doubted this he could prove it. He would show anyone interested his coat and his boots which, incidentally, ought to be sufficient proof for anyone.

Nelson Seal, now deceased, was one of the best friends I have ever had. In his early days he lived out in the Yamacraw section, west of Piquette.

He liked to tell of the time he ran across a big rattlesnake. He had a hoe in his hands that he was using. As he told it, he struck at the snake with his hoe.

The snake dodged and sank its teeth into his hoe handle. He laid the hoe in the fence corner to go back to the next morning. When he went back to get it he found that the wood hoe handle had swelled so that it was no longer usable as a hoe handle.

He said that it was so big that he got a good fence post out of it. The poison in the snake bite caused the wood to swell. I questioned such a thing happening. He told me he could prove it and he did. He showed me the fence post.

Another tall tale about fence posts is that a man had dug a row of fence post holes and put the posts in them but that night the wind blew so hard that it blew the fence posts out of the ground.

Mr. Seal, an old man back 50 years ago, owned land on both the Mississippi and the Louisiana side of Pearl River. He told me with a solemn face that, though the land in Honey Island was much richer, he could not plant his watermelons there because the vines would grow so fast that they would drag the watermelons along on the ground and wear them out before they could ripen.

If anyone knows any old time tall tales, I'd like to get them. So please write them down and send them to S.G. Thigpen, P.O. Box 819, Piquette, MS.

I'd like to publish them and will give sender full credit for any sent in. I had many sent to me after running a story like this a few years ago.

Agriculture Today

by Ed Curran

U.S. Department of Agriculture

All of us had heard about the drought, but that crop report still came as a shocker. The wheat crop, which for all practical purposes had been tons, down 16 percent from made before it hit, held. At last year's record high 234 2.32 billion bushels, it was virtually total and the lowest since tually unchanged from earlier 1976.

Also an apparent victim of the drought is the soybean crop. Production is now seen at 7.3 billion bushels earlier, at 1.88 billion bushels, down it's now seen at only 6.65 17 pct. from a year earlier and billion bushels. That's down the lowest since 1978. The 9 percent from the early fore-reasons for the decline: Lower east, 14 percent below last acreage, lower yield per acre, year's total.

Even if it stands at this present level, it'll be the biggest year-to-year drop in corn production on record — more than a billion bushels. That'd be a sharper drop than that from 1973 to 1974 when drought was also the major factor as the nation's corn production dropped from 5.67 billion bushels to 4.70 billion bushels, down 970 million bushels.

Nationally, Missouri's corn crop apparently has been hit the hardest. Once forecast at 188 million bushels, it's now seen at only 90 million bushels. That's a 52 percent decline. Elsewhere, crops in Alabama and Georgia are both seen off 1/3 from earlier predictions. That in Nebraska is seen down 17 percent, while those in both South Dakota and Texas are seen down 16 percent from earlier forecasts. Pennsylvania's is seen off 13 percent from the pre-drought estimate. Crops in Illinois and Iowa are seen down 8 percent and 3 percent, respectively.

Surprisingly, there were some increases. Ohio's crop, is seen up 2-1/2 pct., that in Wisconsin is seen up 4 pct. from the July forecasts.
